No More Bloody Snake-Oil War! The Kingdom Of Shylock Must Not Prevail - With Australia As Its Whore!

The globalist emporium, the New World Order, is involved in a series of wars. Although tottering on the edge of collapse after the Global Financial Crisis of 2008, it continues to invade countries, overthrow governments, meddle everywhere to seize resources and position.

It says it is engaged in a 'War On Terror'. Yet, it will even collaborate with such terrorists if it serves a purpose. We remember that bin Laden and his network were once funded by the CIA and that the CIA funded Chechen Moslem terrorists against Russia.

Now they attack Libya, yet we remember that al Qaeda was suppressed in Libya by Colonel Muammar Gaddafi after bin Laden tried to assassinate him. Now, the NATO/US military seeks to overthrow Gaddafi and replace him with a stooge government so they can seize the oil. Irony: some of those they support - have links to al Qaeda! Unsurprising - after all, MI-6 collaborated with al Qaeda to murder Gaddafi in 1996.

Oil and resources? For the ledger to balance in the global financial meltdown it is necessary that debt be paid for in the blood and treasure of naïve or weak peoples (including Australians). The globalists' snake-oil mantra is that they are bringing democracy and prosperity (like that of Iraq and Afghanistan!) to all regardless of whether they ask for it, or whether they deserve it or not (!), but always they succeed only in inching the planet towards Armageddon.

This current world system did not drop from the sky. It has been over a hundred years in incubation and maturation. Yet, its dark embryonic origins were established well prior to the American War of Independence. Long ago, the wise American Democrat Senator, Robert Latham Owen (1856 - 1947), explained how this system was born, even before America's War of Independence and when the old colonies sought to issue their own money:

"It was not very long until this information was brought to the Rothschild's Bank, and they saw that here was a nation ready to be exploited; here was a nation that had been setting up an example that they could issue their own money in place of the money coming through the favoured banks. The Rothschild Bank caused a Bill to be introduced into the English Parliament, therefore, which provided that no Colony of England could issue their own money. They had to use English money. Consequently, the Colonies were compelled to disregard their Scrip and mortgage themselves to the Bank of England in order to get money. For the first time in the history of the United States, our money began to be based on debt."

From Frank Anstey's book Money Power. That was the story in 1920 just after World War One. Has the burden increased?

Thereafter, increment by increment, link by link in the golden chain, this system has grown stronger. It controls the world money supply. And Australia's pays its vassal tribute by sending our youth to senseless bloodshed throughout the last century and now this one too.

Ninety years ago and with the carnage of the Great War before his eyes, that great old labour nationalist MP, Frank Anstey gave Australians two mighty epistles - The Kingdom Of Shylock and The Money Power. Anstey warned of the ascendancy of the international bankers and their political system. He said of this pernicious evil:

"The 'Money Power' is something more than Capitalism. It is its product, yet its master. 'Capitalism', in its control of the great agencies of production, is observable and understandable. The other lurks in vaults and banking chambers masquerading its operations in language that mystifies or dazzles ... modern Capitalism throws ever increasing power into the hands of men who operate the monetary machine. These men constitute 'The Financial Oligarchy'.

YOUTH NATION DESTINY

"Men may die but money makes no sacrifice. It looks upon bloody war as a rich gold mine yielding fat dividends for ever and ever without end. Human blood suckers, who risk neither life nor limb nor penny, wax fat upon Armageddon."

These wars seem endemic to it. The wars are designed to break borders, cultures, races and peoples into an amorphous lump of so called individuals who are just factors of production, consumption, exchange and distribution. And so arises our Australian consumer society of nothings fed on credit and multiculturalism!

Today, the spearhead of the New World Order globalists is the Anglo-American Zionist bloc. This alliance was also the vanguard of modern multiculturalism. One of its spokesmen, General Clarke, amidst the turmoil of the Balkan wars, said that his system would not tolerate ethnically-specific states anywhere in the world henceforward. Clarke failed to point out that there is one ethnically specific state that is patronised and supported – Israel – which is an essential bloc in this NWO alignment. The Middle Eastern wars are fought for that state and its survival as much as for the money power generally.

Frank Anstey knew them and so did Jack Lang – and that great American Senator Gerald Nye who warned in the 1930's that war and the money power were bedfellows, that they planned wars to increase their power. He said that behind words of democracy and freedom, they would Wage war for profit. So it has ever been in America.

We see the perverse logic of the system in the current attempt to dismantle Libya. It was Gaddafi's former arrangements with the Italian government that prevented refugee masses and immigrant hordes from entering Europe. Indeed, he even said in an unashamed tone that "Europe will turn black", if his government falls! It was Gaddafi who cooperated against al Qaeda. So why overthrow him? Is it that the NWO can only be consolidated into a totalitarian absolutist world ruler – through total chaos?

The Money Power is unleashing the population genie as a battering ram. As President Boumediene of Algeria said in 1974:

"No amount of atomic bombs will be able to dam up the tidal wave comprising human beings in their millions which one day will leave the southernmost and poor part of the world, to erupt into the relatively open spaces of the wealthy northern hemisphere, in search of survival."

This rich white world is in the Southern Hemisphere as well and as the New World Order comes to the Middle East and Africa, Australia faces its destiny. Indeed, these masses constitute the future cheap labour of the Asianized elites and we say, as the old Audacity! of the 1970's said: An Asian Destiny – Never!

As Australia fights the losing wars of Iraq and Afghanistan – we are now managing (sic) refugee influxes, while preparing for mass refugee invasions. The wars bring no security – only new disorder.

The Money Power rides this apocalypse. Only through the disintegration of the ethno-specific communities (ie. nation-states) which are now scheduled to be atomised into grains of sand – can its world empire arise. This understanding is not unique to Australian nationalists. Noam Chomsky said:

"See, capitalism is not fundamentally racist – it can exploit racism for its purposes, but racism isn't built into it. Capitalism basically wants people to be interchangeable cogs, and differences among them, such as on the basis of race, usually are not functional. I mean, they may be functional for a period, like if you want a super-exploited workforce or something, but those situations are kind of anomalous. Over the long term you can expect capitalism to be anti-racist – just because it's anti-human. And race is in fact a human characteristic – there's no reason why it should be a negative characteristic, but it is a human characteristic. So therefore identifications based on race interfere with the basic ideal that people should be available just as consumers and producers, interchangeable cogs who will purchase all the junk that's produced – that's their ultimate function, and any other properties they might have are kind of irrelevant, and usually a nuisance."

Again, Audacity! articulates the call to national resistance for the white Australian nation. We must fight in a Second Great Patriotic War, to fight our own Kokoda Track for Identity, Independence and Freedom.

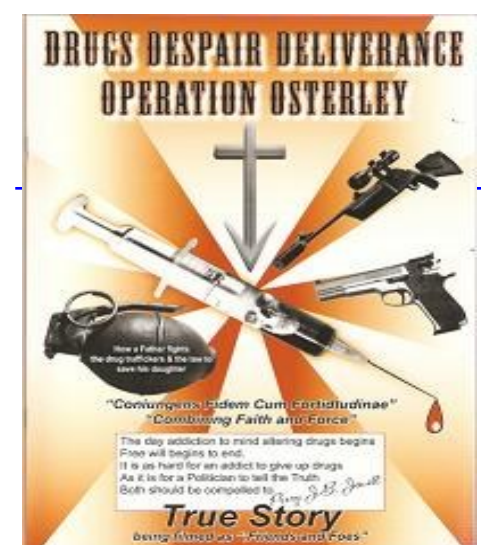

John T. Lang, (Jack Lang) former Labor Premier of New South Wales, wrote in Why I Fight in 1934.

"... in that striving I have come to recognise a force that is stronger than society, secret and swift, that secures itself behind the charter of exploitation of the common people of the world. It is a privileged and select autocracy, which knows no nation and cherishes no faith, and has stolen for itself from the long evolution of modern civilisation an assumption of power which it now claims as a right. And where I, and others, would seek to lead the people through to freedom we have encountered this hidden hand entrenched in ramparts that have become almost unassailable.

Enthroned in our society is a hierarchy of financial anarchists playing with a world of men and women for sheer personal gain, putting them to work under the whips of hunger, throwing them into idleness to keep them in discipline, massing them for war, dividing them in peace – and from every activity into which it deploys them drawing toll in gold, counted over and over in human tears and blood.

To my people I give the call to throw off this yoke, striking at it through the one chink in its carefully constructed armour; and in the following pages I have endeavoured to point the way by disclosing the methods by which this power works and exposing the immoral sacrifice of whole nations of people, and particularly of this young nation of ours, to the cause of greed.."

In invoking Lang's spirit we know that we must first defeat this internal enemy – or lose the war.

Drugs, Despair, Deliverance: Operation Osterley, by seasoned patriot Perry Jewell, is a must-read for all parents with a drug -dependent child, or for all young people challenged by drugs. It makes a strong call for war on the drug criminals, for parental rights over young addicts and for a new strategy to cure the scourge. Price: $20 from P.O. Box 7799 Mail Centre Toowoomba 4351

Yes Fiona, Zionist Thuggery Is A Fact Free From Fancy!

The Greens party has found out a fact of Australian politics. And the Australian community has had this fact paraded about in the open. Simply: you can criticise any country in the world – bar one. Don't criticise Israel.

The Greens reflect the liberalism of Amnesty International. They are critical of China and Burma and many others for ostensible human rights abuse – including genocide. So, when the Greens recently extended that to criticise Israel (which has committed genocide and regularly abuses the human dignity of the Palestinians), they trespassed with a mortal sin.

The Greens mayor Fiona Byrne and other councillors at Marrickville Council in Sydney, decided to have their city boycott Israeli companies. All hell descended upon them. Byrne was a candidate for the Marrickville electorate in the recent NSW poll. She found suddenly that Kevin Rudd, arch Christian Zionist, appeared in Marrickville to denounce her and local Federal Labor MP, Anthony Albanese, wasn't far behind. Then it just got dirtier. Anonymous persons pasted over Greens' posters with green-coloured stickers which purported that the hapless Byrne was a Nazi, a terrorist and a hater of Israel precisely because Israel was supposedly the epitome of democratic tolerance and the front-line against terrorism. Media propagandists like Greg Sheridan and Gerard Henderson fell all over themselves to suggest Byrne was mad and that Israel was good. Maybe she was 'mad' if she presumed to challenge the barrage of Israel supporters!

The Greens then fell out with each other, some saying the issue wasn't of relevance and would lose them votes, that they were heading to the mainstream and that this sort of politics was a distraction. That was plausible, but was it true?

The new Premier of NSW, Barry O'Farrell threatened to sack the Council if they went ahead with the Israel boycott. No free speech there. Why the thuggery?

There are some who say that any mention in the nationalist discourse concerning Zionism and its influence in Australian politics is political suicide. They say it has no meaning and should never be discussed except in sycophantic adulation for Israel (!) – like praising the proverbial Emperor's new clothes. Obviously, the issue might not be of importance to them, but it is of decisive importance to the establishment!!!!!! Can Audacity! be obscure here and suggest that our critics have not read Dr. Jim Cairns's Oil On Troubled Waters?

The intimidation that Zionism renders upon the minds of the timid is mostly a fantasm they choose to impose upon themselves. By lending it a greater practical psychic power than it possesses, they enslave themselves to a type of political correctness where that most jealous god Yahweh trumpets the unassailable moral primacy of his very peculiar people. The Zionist emperor has no clothes, but it takes a fool or a brave man to say it. Audacity! unabashedly declares that the Zionist golem is like the multi-layered/multi-elemental creature of the Old Testament Prophet Daniel's dream, but it stands on the same feet of clay as the whole rotten edifice of our contemporary Tower of Babel (sometimes known the New World Order).

If you criticise Israel, you are criticising a component part of a global system of absolute evil. It must be seen in totality. Consider, Rebuilding America's Defences: Strategies, Forces And Resources For A New Century, authored by the U.S. Zionist-connected think tank 'Project For The New American Century' – the recipe for war, a disaster for environment, peoples and life. Aussie politicians for over a decade have been subservient to that evil manifesto and its practical results – the wars in Iraq, Afghanistan and now Libya.

Fiona Byrne naïvely presumed to challenge the deputy sheriff of the Beast. Fiona may undergo her Gestalt switch. Australians must do likewise. The Beast will collapse under the weight of its own lies. Good riddance!! And that ain't a revelation.

Fiona Byrne: Mayor of Marrickville.

Henry Lawson: Poet Or Prophet? (Part Two)

Rob Fraser

Only someone who has suffered hunger, felt fear and helplessness and endured backbreaking toil, can possess the empathy for his fellow countrymen. That Lawson reveals in his writings. It is not only his depth of insight into the minds, hearts and souls of other people, but the answers he gives to the fundamental questions of life that places Henry Lawson in the ranks of the world's great Philosophers.

*Sons of the South, awake! Arise!
Sons of the South, and do.
Banish from under your bonnie skies
Those old-world errors and wrongs and lies.*

*Making a hell in a Paradise
That belongs to your sons and you.*
(A Song of the Republic, 1887)

As humans are not by nature solitary beings, one of these fundamental questions of life would be: who are "we"? Not who we are as individuals, the question each of us must answer for ourselves as we overcome life's challenges to the best of our abilities, but who "we" are collectively, as a community.

We swear to strike when the time arrives, for our kind and our kith and kin!"
(The Hymn of the Socialists, 1887)

"We" are often asked by the Mainstream Media and by our political leaders to consider the feelings, sensitivities and concerns of others. Today the Aboriginal community, or perhaps the Jewish community tomorrow, or at other times any of the other 270 odd ethnic communities who presently reside upon the Australian Continent. But do "We", the ones always being asked to be considerate, do "We", ourselves constitute an ethnic community in our own right. Do "We" also belong to a group whose inclusion within and membership of is not just a clerical decision by an immigration official, or the gaining possession of an Australian passport, but a matter of our birth, of our descent, of our appearance, of our common beliefs and our shared attitude to life?"

Henry Lawson unequivocally and unambiguously answers this question for us with typical Australian frankness:

"We are Australians – we know no other land!"
(United Division, 1887)

But, who and what are these Australians?

When Lawson wrote of the Australians, he was not referring simply to the inhabitants of the Australian Continent, but to an 'Australian People', a 'nation', a word which in nineteenth century usage referred to the ethnic group to which a person belongs.

"...if Australians were as separate from any other nation as Australia from any other land..."
(United Division, 1887)

The following quote, written twelve years before an Australian Government existed, clearly reveals what Lawson meant when he used the word 'nation' to describe ethnicity - as opposed to the modern (and false) concept of possessing citizenship.

" 'Twas of such stuff the men were made who saw our nation born," (Eureka, 1889)

Lawson unambiguously explains to us that the newly evolved ethnic group, the Australian 'nation', existed well before the Australian Government which could grant citizenship, came into being.

Lawson's life's work was to be a witness to - and the recorder of - the culmination of our ancestors' evolution into a new ethnic group, "The Australians" who,

"...are fast becoming an entirely different people. We are more liberal, and considering our age, more progressive than England is."
(United Division, 1887)

Lawson is quite clear that being born upon the Australian continent does not necessarily make one ethnically an Australian as illustrated by:

"He was an Australian-born Britisher..."
(The Australian Writer, 1899)

Nor can a person 'migrate' from being a member of a foreign ethnic group to belonging to the Australian ethnic 'national' family. This is explained so sympathetically and free from any accusation of ill will or malice to foreigners, in "Sons of Foreign Fathers", 1914.

However,
*"But a nation was born when the immigrants said
"Good-bye!" as they stepped ashore!"*
(How the Land Was Won, 1899)

To be an Australian is both a matter of birth and a conscious choice of the way in which a person decides to live and thus be recognised as such by their fellow Australians. This is well illustrated with Billy's passionate response at the end of a heated argument with his father, in 'The Bush Fire'.

"If it comes to that I'm an Australian..."
(The Bush Fire, 1901)

Lawson leaves us with only a few lines to describe 'people of Australian appearance':

"... I mean, of course, the English, Irish and their descendants in Australia...I shall refer to them as Australians."
(Nationality in Colonisation, 1890)

"...that Australians born of Europeans have been called "natives" for many years.
(The Southern Scout, 1892)

"And bushmen are soft where a woman is fair..."
(Taking His Chance, 1892)

*"The Star of Australasia...
...a pink-white baby girl..."*
(The Star of Australasia, 1895)

"The white girl-wife in the hut alone..."
(How the Land Was Won, 1899)

"...the hut in the bush and the freckled-faced girl..."
(The Bush Girl, 1901)

"...Australia...the Outpost of the White!"
(For Australia, 1905)

*"Let all and one Australia make...
The Outpost of the white man's race..."*
(To Be Amused, 1906)

Lawson would find it amusing that Anti-Australian historians would make much of the lack of references in his works as to the appearance of the Australians. This dearth is not surprising, considering that Lawson wrote for an Australian audience. Aboriginal Dreamtime stories seldom mention that Aborigines are black, such references obviously being superfluous.

Perhaps 'our' Henry was thinking of our plight today, thus revealing himself to be a bit of the clairvoyant and also having a last dig at those enemies of 'us Aussies', when he wrote the following,

Henry Lawson: 1867—1922

*"To hint a bushman was not white,
Would mean a long and bloody fight..."*
(Bourke, 1902)

(Part three, appearing in the next issue of AUDACITY, explores Lawson's vision of a true common-wealth of Australia, in which poverty, unhappiness and exploitation have been abolished.)

AUSTRALIAN IDENTITY

"We are for this Australia, for the Nationality that is creeping to the verge of being, for the progressive people".

William Lane, BOOMERANG, 1887.

"Australia is not a sect or a section, it is not a caste or a class, or a creed, it's not to be a Southern England nor yet another United States. Australia is the whole white people of this Continent."

BOOMERANG November 18 1887.

"By the term Australian we mean not just those who were merely born in Australia. All white men who come to these shores with a clean record and who leave behind the memory of the class distinctions and religious differences of the Old World, all men who place the happiness of their adopted land before imperialism, are Australian."

BULLETIN magazine, July 2 1887.

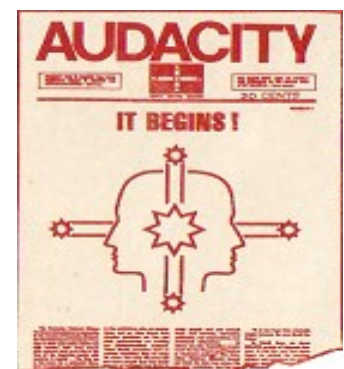

"I reject in conscience, the idea that Australia should or can ever be a multi-racial society and survive.

Arthur Calwell, BE JUST AND FEAR NOT, 1972.

AUSTRALIA FIRST PARTY

THE Australia First Party has recently achieved not just another electoral success, but more importantly a community based ideological and political victory. Mr. John McGrath, party candidate in the recent Palerang Council by-election, polled some 6.1% of the poll. It was a solid result in an area affected by the Murray Darling water scheme which will see Australian farming destroyed.

Mr. McGrath campaigned for Citizens Initiated Referendum, the powerful lever that would allow people to directly propose their Council's by-laws. He said that the immigration policy which would see Palerang's population exploded by seventy per cent by 2036, was anathema. And he spoke out against the Greens' aversion to the trucking industry upon which farmers rely. All together. John McGrath was putting together a formula which will be employed in the September 2012 New South Wales general council elections.

The party has called for candidates for the 2012 Councils poll and so far people have come forward for Palerang, Hawkesbury, Blacktown, Cowra, Penrith, Sutherland and Coffs Harbour.

These elections should coincide with the Queensland local government poll and with similar issues in play, it

Is expected candidates will also be on offer in that State.

It is expected that Australia First councillors will be elected in 2012.

The growth of the party will also be reflected in the registration of two State parties for South Australia and Queensland. The membership-drives have commenced.

This steady organizational growth planned for 2011—2012 is complemented by the strengthening of the party, ideologically and politically. The party has deepened its critique of the New World Order globalist system and how that impacts upon the politics of our colonized and exploited country. We have identified the 'traitor class' of money and privilege as possessing state power and asserted the need for a patriotic people's movement to acquire national independence from the NWO and to win control of the nation's resources that we may create the free society.

Australia First Party has published The Party Of The Nation to educate party activists in its political theory and method and a Branch And Activities Manual to guide the organization. The party considers that the future is positive.

The Eight Core Policies Of Australia First: A Programme And A Method For National Rebirth!

Whatever will benefit Australia, that we are for; whatever will harm Australia, that we are against. William Lane

2 THE Eight Core Policies of Australia First are the basis of association for the party. They are (with explanations and the implied ninth point) as follows:

1 Ensure Australia Retains Full Independence

Protect our sovereignty (national, constitutional and personal) and maintain an adequate defence, whilst being reasonable and fair in our nation's international dealings.

2 Rebuild Australian Manufacturing Industries

This is the only way we can be self-sufficient. It will provide jobs for our children, and help buy back the farm and allow Australia to be free of foreign debts. Our infrastructure has been run down over many years - it must be rebuilt. We must improve the practicality and relevance of our educational systems, and target government support for industry to diversify, innovate, perform and expand. We recognise that small business is fundamental to this policy. A satisfactory financial environment is also urgent and essential.

3 Control Foreign Ownership

Bring foreign ownership and investment back under control.

4 Reduce and Limit Immigration

Immigration mistakes can be big long-term mistakes. Immigration policy must take into account social cohesion, employment opportunities, urbanisation and environmental issues

5 Abolish Multiculturalism

End the divisive, government-funded and institutionalised policy of multiculturalism.

6 Introduce Citizen-Initiated Referenda

Amend the Australian Constitution such that the people can initiate a constitutional referendum which, if approved by the Australian people, will amend the Australian Constitution. This simple step will confirm the political authority of voters and make legislators aware that they are the servants of the Australian People, not their masters. The people directly should also possess the sovereign right and the power to initiate other legislation

7. Strengthen the family

Promote policies that strengthen and protect the traditional family.

8 Strive to Rebuild A United Australia

Promote policies that recognise the interdependence of city and country.

9 Democratise Other Policy Issues

All other policies (non-core policies) are matters of free conscience and are not binding upon Australia First's future parliamentarians or councillors who are to represent their electorates.

Issues of public interest on which Australia First needs to formulate policy will be canvassed with the party membership, and plebiscites conducted where deemed appropriate by the party's National Council. The party also permits branches to formulate specific electoral policies or community policies not inconsistent with the Eight Core Policies.

From time to time, the party will issue material that provides interpretation of the core policies. This interpretative material would reflect the spirit of the party.

The organizational purpose for this statement of policy and system for policy creation is simple: Australia First does not require weighty tomes which change from month to month, as do the programmes of the Establishment parties and those who ape them. It requires a focus for action and for unity within the party.

Australia First is to build a new national movement. Practicality is method.
