Australia First To Build Unity In Struggle

A recession looms. Across the country, Australia's productive workers and families are on the chopping block of "the economy". This god, who governs all, must be fed with the people's blood. And indeed, the Canberra politicians are falling over themselves to meet up with their counterparts in the New World Order Inc. to ensure that the system itself survives. They may now permit some "re-regulation" of the economy, slow down the removal of all tariff barriers lest too many jobs be lost, let the government guarantee the banks so as to "bail them out", use the Treasury power to generate some employment through spending and so on. Why the new deal? Why the same-type policies of the 1930's New Deal era of the United States, the same policies of John Keynes, the economists' saint who pioneered deficit spending to save (sic) the Western regimes from the Great Depression - seventy years ago?

The system called capitalism has got out of hand; so, its own organised common administration committee, which we will call for convenience, "the state", must now govern for all capitalists and rescue the system. Yet, to some free market true-believers, these same servants of the multinationals and the international banks are betraying the 'truth' that heaven-on-earth comes only when there is a complete free market of people and goods. As if the system of banks and multinationals is actually a "free market"! In reality, the new deal is a shift inside the regime. There cannot be too much chaos, too much gambling with futures, too much Stock Exchange speculation, too much greed.

If these negative aspects of capitalism rule the day, the system itself might crash - and the unholy Australian people might just work towards creating a very different economic and social order!

The Class War Of The Rich

For a long period, Australia has seen a class war in operation, one waged not from below, but from above. Australia is governed by a traitor class, a class of both money (big shareholders, owners, landlords) and management (media bosses, upper civil servants, politicians etc) which recognises no real loyalty to Australia. Its loyalty is to the "global economy", to the consortium of global banks and multinationals which see Australia as a branch office of the global economy, the New World Order.

We need not deal with the history of this class, but Blind Freddie knows it has a long history, back into the colonial period and through the days of 'all-the-way-with-the-USA' investments and wars. There came a moment after the electoral victory of

Without truckies, Australia stops. Owner drivers invest heavily in their livelihood. And for miserable rates of pay!

Malcolm Fraser in 1975, when globalism became the watchword, when this class cut off its last moorings to Australia. It is at home in New York or Tokyo as it is in Melbourne - and its loyalties are likewise.

When it became clear that globalism was the system's way forward (1970's), much had to change in Australia. Government owned facilities had to be "privatised". Tariffs were to be scrapped. Australian owned manufactures and farms were the first targets (1970's - 1980's) of the traitor class. The system has always been big on "reports" and "reforms". Each has seen an industry choke to death and foreigners usurp control. For example, Aussie family farms have shrunk in number; others have been corporatised, or integrated into serving foreign owned food companies! Labour was the next target as wages were held back and the unions taken over by open ALP-loyal hacks - and now labour is to be squeezed absolutely. As things went on, workers had to be denied the right to be in free trade unions, so unions were attacked under the guise that there were corrupt union bosses. Labour would ultimately negotiate its price as a workplace agreement. And if the Australian worker didn't like it, there happened the threat of cheaper foreign labour - "Section 457 Visa" labour.

Of late, it is people who are operating shops, small small service industries and businesses, who have become the targets. As John Farrell of the National Federation of Independent Business puts it, small business and their families are a trillion dollar asset, there to be looted. Enter then – Australia's truckies and families, owner-drivers and their employees.

Truck Owners And Drivers Rise To Fight!

To destroy the small businesses that sustain countless Aussie families, a trick has been employed. This trick is called a "reform", one ostensibly put in place to ensure safety in the industry – to ensure the drivers are always rested and so forth.

Fines, stops, waste of time with inspections and records' keeping have pushed people to the wall. With police steered towards fining owner drivers and not drivers for the big companies, with Roads officers targeting them for minor breaches of the rules, a lot of "real experience is being driven out of the industry".

being an owner-driver is not a job, but a craft, a "lifestyle". Ted said that the job now "was not a physical job, it's a mental job, a nightmare". Too many rules! It was clear to both Bunny and Ted that the big companies were prepared to employ "cheap contract labour from overseas" to beat the owner-drivers out of their profession – and ultimately even to replace the native Aussie workforce in the big outfits.

The return of the old "log book" for drivers, abolition of fines for technical breaches of rules, fines only for safety breaches not other log book breaches, better rest areas, more consideration for professional drivers on demerit points, no increases on fuel excise.

The long fight for justice will continue. To preserve their businesses and families, truckies have vowed to continue their actions.

The construction industry was, from the start of "Work Choices" (under John Howard, but still not all repealed under Rudd), a prime target for what is called "reform". The entry of the foreign workers (Section 457 Visa entrants) was part of this "reform".

The main union, the 'CFMEU' has in the past made noises about foreign contract labour, but it has stayed within the orthodoxy of the human rights industry that, as long as they are paid the same money, it'll be alright. It isn't. As a super-union, the TWU has become a large machine out of touch with the workers. It is a matter of job displacement. Aussie workers leave an industry or an area, the contract labour moves in. Skills are lost. Then the state and its media proclaim the foreign workers are "necessary".

"The Asian workers do not care about Australia. They do not care about the health and safety of others in the workplace. They do not bother to learn fluent English. They do not bother to try and understand how to communicate with Australian workers. They form their own communities and own social circles and do not care to be part of a bigger picture. They use Australia and the job opportunities for their own purposes. They give nothing back in return. Some use us to bring their brothers, cousins, friends and families to Australia so they can further use Australia's land to their own advantage. They don't care about assimilating into Australian society, they only care about themselves."

Amazingly, a report commissioned last April by the KRudd government and lauded up in an editorial in the Sydney Morning Herald (Nov.16), said that the scheme, which now involves 58,000 workers, has "served" Australia. Served who?

Australia First Party has said to truckies and activist groups like ALDODA that it is important to link up with general community concerns on related issues and thereby deepen the movement.

The nationalization of all tollways and the abolition of the tolls; a national fuel industry and a national fuel price (no world parity pricing); the development of cheaper fuels; a total review of the revenue-raising system for all motorists' and truckies' traffic and parking fines, with lesser penalties, warnings in place of some fines and the reduction in the numbers of people wastefully employed in issuing them and policing the system; the elimination of red tape bureaucracy in all areas of the trucking industry; to lobby local councils to upgrade truckies' facilities.

By encouraging workers, by eliminating wasteful revenue-raising, by stimulating an industry, we expect higher efficiencies and productive output. It is here, in fairly taken taxation, that government can real-

The abolition of foreign contract labour; the abolition of workplace agreements and the return to central wage fixing; the return of the right to strike.

It is surely time for ordinary Australians to stand united against the forces of globalisation and fight to at least retain jobs and professions and sustain families. It shall be a long road to an Australian economy run by Australians and it will be along time before the New World Order system (despite current problems) can be disposed of. Yet, the nationalists are resolved as the world situation alters and conditions in Australia change, so will develop the true cause of Australian identity, independence and freedom.

New Zealand Flag Day Rally, October 25: Developing The ANZAC Link Will Build The Movement On Both Sides Of The Tasman

The New Zealand Nationalist Alliance (NA) invited the Australia First Party to participate in Flag Day (October 25). The NA is an alliance of the nationalist forces in that country, featuring the New Zealand National Front (NF), the National Democrats, the New Right and other social and music groups.

Flag Day was organized directly by the Wellington branch of the National Front. 'Vince' the key organizer, revealed himself a veritable dynamo. He liaised with the police, established the security for the march and set up a camping venue for the out-of-town nationalists.

On the Day itself, some 40 or so nationalists who were staying at a Lower Hutt caravan park, assembled at a nearby railway station, where by arrangement, they were met by police. They took the train to Wellington's main station with a police escort, arriving about 11.15 am. Here they were met by additional activists and further police. The marchers assembled quickly, unfurled the flags and then marched to Parliament House.

A raft of two dozen or so NZ flags were carried aloft, along with two essential Aussie icons: the Australian National Flag and the Southern Cross. A large blue/red National Front banner led the way.

A counter-demonstration was touted for weeks. Ultimately, just under 70 nationalists were confronted by exactly 34 anarchists! For the extreme left in Wellington, this was a severe defeat! Considering that a few years before, hundreds of leftists had attacked the Flag day marchers, this year, tells a whole new story. Today, these anarchists are finally - demoralised.

Outside the old nineteenth century Parliament building, the rally commenced. Onlookers also joined in. The NF secretary, Mr. Colin Ansell, spoke. He was followed by Mr. Steve Larsen of New Right. They said that New Zealand had pride in the Flag first raised in 1869 and made the national symbol in 1902. It honoured the war dead; it united modern (not just colonial) New Zealanders. Given that Flag Day is not generally celebrated in New Zealand, its use by the nationalists as a festival of Kiwi identity and heritage, is most creditable.

Jim Saleam of Australia First said:

"I represent the Australia First Party which is in solidarity with the Alliance and its affiliate-parts. We bring Flag Day our greetings. On April 25 this year, ANZAC Day exactly six months ago, the two organizations adopted the ANZAC Declaration. We later authored an ANZAC Manifesto. These documents set out to explain that the two countries face similar dangers and will share a common evil fortune, unless they rebuild the old ANZAC. The rise of Chinese imperialism and the immigration nightmare that now threatens the European basis of both countries, the destruction of our jobs and communities through free trade, all demand a united response".

The Flag Day had attracted the leading NZ nationalists from the various cities of the country. They were later able to meet in conference and other meetings and decide how to advance the movement overall. Jim Saleam met privately with Kerry Bolton of Renaissance Press and Kyle Chapman of Nationalist Alliance to discuss key questions. He was also able to confer with Mr. Ansell and talk informally with many individual nationalist activists, particularly those involved in the National Front. Crucial intelligence on the NZ anarchist rabble and their links to Australian Labor Party connected "anti racists", was exchanged. Some of this involved attempts to direct 'our own' anarchists against Australia First and other patriotic people

It was important to the Australia First Party to develop these political and personal links with the New Zealand nationalists. Australian nationalists were invited to the 2009 Flag Day. It is planned that a delegation shall attend.

First World Power, Second Rate Country, Third World President: Barack Obama — Cold Truth

"And in the end a mulatto sat upon the throne of the Pharaohs." (Major Ernest Sevier Cox, White America, 1923, a prophetic book available on the Internet.)

The American empire recently elected Barack Obama, a 'black' man, as President. Yet he is not a Negro (a term the multiculturalist PC American media no longer uses in any case to describe black persons descended of the original slave population), but is more properly called an "African American", a son of a Kenyan immigrant and a white. What does all this signify?

The American State no longer represents a nation. The old white American nation (which had certain sub-minorities like Indians and Negroes who originally did not determine its basic cultural direction) is now a prisoner within an empire, dispossessed and without power; this empire is one, not just of diverse peoples, but also of a money elite. When we call this state an empire, we mean it! It is an empire which seeks to extend its realm of the liberal mind and corporate and banking power throughout the world. Its slogans are "democracy", "opportunity", "equality".

So what will change in America?

The new President will essentially maintain the US presence in Iraq for some time, (years in fact), will escalate the war in Afghanistan and may invade Iran. The connection with Israel will obviously remain because these are Israel's 'policies'. These policies will also ensure the power of the Zionist lobby in American politics. Internally however, there will be an attempt to centre the regime of the banks and the corporations upon ethnic minorities (sic) who may have things to gain and upon the more liberal 'guilt-ridden' sections of US whites.

Policies will also be drafted like those of President Roosevelt's days in the 1930's to appeal to "main street" – mortgage relief, job creation etc. Of course, powerful groups like Obama's main contributor, Goldman Sachs bank, will not be disturbed. And ominously, Obama will bust open the border with Mexico to create a huge free trade zone, amnestise millions of illegal immigrants and send America's 'white majority' on the path to absolute minority status. All this will be done because the Establishment wants it done. We add too the appointment of endless numbers of known Zionists, some of whom were Bushviks, into a new administration of national (sic) reconciliation.

We will see an attempt to promote the globalist and multiculturalist propaganda agenda more intensely, using the black face of the President more assertively. In reality, the new American empire has only formalised what was already the regime's position. The regime of Washington / New York is not "Western" but alien, a travesty upon Occidental (Western) values. This is said, whether or not in the past, some pasty-faced 'white boy' used to be its President. The regime will now seek the aggressive opening of all borders and the formal multiculturalisation of all European societies.

Those Australian pseudo patriots who used to prattle on about their "ally" in America need to get a grip on reality. A cursory Internet search will confirm that it is the Russian Federation in fact which remains the principle defender of all ethnic and racial identities, and in particular, it is the focal point for the white racial nationalist movements. We know that because of the open and state sponsored forum held in Moscow in 2007, entitled Russia And The White World.

But, and we say this stridently, America promulgates one model, a New World Order in her own likeness, whilst Russian leaders promulgate a multipolar world where all races and peoples can create their own identities, each to their own kind and friendships suitable to each. Leading patriots from all over the world were present at that conference and welcomed the multipolar model against that of America. What was it Henry Lawson said? "The vanguard of the white man is the vanguard of the Rus".

The Washington / New York regime has its nuclear weapons and its conventional forces and thus it reveals itself. as a First World power, yet it is a second rate nothing country via its election of a Third World President. Like the days of ancient Egypt and Rome an utter alien has acceded to the nominal Emperor's role. Indeed, as the Chinese proverb goes: "we live in interesting times".

And Australia will survive its' time!

Australia First close to registration numbers, shows its' electoral potential, ready for growth in 2009

The Australia First Party is moving decisively towards having the base numbers to support an application for its Federal registration as a political party.

The party's national management committee set December 3 2008, Eureka Stockade Day, as the date for the collection of the necessary signed membership forms for the purposes of the Australian Electoral Commission.

Of course, in registering a party, Australia First's leadership states that its purposes are to acquire the appropriate legal status and rights and privileges. This does not mean that Australia First considers its purposes to be restricted to electoral work. Quite the contrary. Australia First operates the three tier method of political action:

participation in Federal and other elections, especially local elections; community, grassroots and public and street activities; work that develops the party's ideological quality, while defending too, Australia's unique cultural inheritance. The three tiers can neither be separated, nor operated one without the others.

The immediate aim of the party is to unite all genuine nationalists into one organization.

This has become an important task because of the winding-up of parties such as the Australians Against Further Immigration, One Nation (New South Wales) and others—and the on-going decline of the One Nation party. A new nationalist electoral and activist party is essential.

The potential for Australia First was demonstrated in the September 2008 Councils' poll in New South Wales.

Australia First Party tickets polled 5.62% in Blacktown and 4% in the Sutherland Shire. Good starts were also made in Newcastle and Coffs Harbour.

These results overshadowed the One Nation Federal averages of 1.8% in the 2007 poll.

The Federal registration of the Australia First Party (NSW) Incorporated, our full organizational title as appears on our membership forms, will open a new chapter in the Australian nationalist and patriotic struggle.

The unfolding of a major recession of the globalist economy, the unlikelihood of any real immigration cut, the breakdown of social stability in Australia both via economic crisis and the ravages of multiculturalism—all suggest that Australians will increasingly offer nationalists a hearing.

"In 2009, Australia First will experience a membership surge and develop physical structure in several key areas of the country", a member of the national committee said to Audacity! "We will be working closely with sections of Real Australia to fight back against the globalisers' system. Many people who are prepared to struggle will find their way to us". Take your place in Australia First!

The Eight Core Policies Of Australia First: A Programme And A Method

Whatever will benefit Australia, that we are for; whatever will harm Australia, that we are against. William Lane

2 The core policies of Australia First are the basis of association of the party. They are (with explanations) as follows:

1 Ensure Australia Retains Full Independence

Protect our sovereignty (national, constitutional and personal) and maintain an adequate defence, whilst being reasonable and fair in our nation's international dealings.

2 Rebuild Australian Manufacturing Industries

This is the only way we can be self sufficient. It will provide jobs for our children, and help buy back the farm and allow Australia to be free of foreign debts. Our infrastructure has been run down over many years - it must be rebuilt. We must improve the practicality and relevance of our educational systems, and target government support for industry to diversify, innovate, perform and expand. We recognise that small business is fundamental to this policy. A satisfactory financial environment is also urgent and essential.

3 Control Foreign Ownership

Bring foreign ownership and investment back under control.

4 Reduce and Limit Immigration

Immigration mistakes can be big long term mistakes. Immigration policy must take into account social cohesion, employment opportunities, urbanisation and environmental issues

5 Abolish Multiculturalism

End the divisive, government funded and institutionalised policy of multiculturalism.

6 Introduce Citizen's Initiated Referenda

Amend the Australian Constitution such that the people can initiate a constitutional referendum which, if approved by the Australian people, will amend the Australian Constitution. This simple step will confirm the political authority of voters and make legislators aware that they are the servants of the Australian People, not their masters. The people directly should also possess the sovereign right and the power to initiate other legislation

7. Strengthen the family

Promote policies that strengthen and protect the traditional family.

8 Strive to Rebuild A United Australia

Promote policies that recognise the interdependence of city and country.

9 Democratise Other Policy Issues

All other policies (non-core policies) are matters of free conscience and are not binding upon Australia First's future parliamentarians or councillors who are to represent their electorates.

Issues of public interest on which Australia First needs to formulate policy will be canvassed with the party membership and plebiscites conducted where deemed appropriate by the party's National Council. The party also permits branches to formulate specific electoral policies or community policies not inconsistent with the Eight Core Policies.

From time to time, the party will issue material that provides interpretation of the core policies. This interpretative material would reflect the spirit of the party.

The organizational purpose for this statement of policy and system for policy creation is simple: Australia First does not require weighty tomes, which change from month to month, as do the programmes of the Establishment parties and those who ape them. It requires a focus for action and for unity within the party.

Australia First is to build a new national movement. Practicality is method.
